The European Family Therapy Association (E.F.T.A.) at the time of its 7th congress, which is also the French Family Therapy Association (S.F.T.F.) congress, invites you to discover the diversity of systemic practices. These are constantly happening in a social landscape undergoing profound change.

The main directions will be :

- The role of family therapy under its different aspects : theoretical and methodological in the clinical, training and research frameworks. An important part will be dedicated to new systemic practices with contribution of well-known international family therapists.

- The ethics and the perspectives which will emerge in the socio-cultural universe of tomorrow. For this debate, famous external speakers from family therapy field will be invited such as: Mark R. Anspach, Boris Cyrulnik, Eric Fiat, Vittorio Gallese, René Girard, Gisèle Halimi, Axel Kahn.

Your presence and collaboration will turn this congress into a great moment in the history of the development of family therapies and systemic practices in Europe.

We shall be very glad to meet you there.

7th EFTA Congress in Paris

60 years of Family Therapy

New ways for systemic practice.

20 years of EFTA... and after ?

29, 30, 31 october 2010

EFTA

Preprogram

The 7th congress of the European Family Therapy Association (E.F.T.A) will be held in Paris, Palais des Congrès, 29th - 31st October 2010

There will be a large choice of symposia and workshops. These are under development and will be validated by the Scientific Committee.

A little more than 50 years ago, family therapy and systemic practices were considered as an innovative approach which was often upsetting. They were also seen as a pioneer domain. Since, they have demonstrated their positive effect in psychiatric troubles treatment as well as in the educative and medical-psycho-social areas.

Today, Family therapy is recognized at international level and is taught in lots of European universities. Many institutes also provide a high quality training. Extending beyond psychotherapy area, systemic approach proposes an original way to help in new problematics encountered by institutions and other organizations.
